SHIVAN'S CHILDHOOD

SHIVAN'S CHILDHOOD

Once there lived a handsome boy named Shivan who lived in Kathmandu, Nepal and was a single child. He was brought up in a middle class family where his family earned an average income. With the little education that was provided to him, he made use of it to his fullest potential. He gained interest towards technology where his aim of his life was to become an IT tech. By nature he was very sensitive towards the people around him and genuinely loved them for who they are. He had a habit of fixing his hair frequently to make himself cool in front of people. Though he was very optimistic in nature, his weakness kept troubling him. He always tried to be a people pleaser which in turn made him sad as a person. Everyone has a turning point or a sense of realization in their life. In his case, he faced it in a very young age.

BEGINNING OF SHIVAN'S CAREER

On one certain day, his family faced a huge loss in their business. In such a critical situation, his parents had no idea of how they were going to run the family. Seeing the sufferings of his parents, he voluntarily started taking up part time jobs. As he grew up to be a young man, He took up a taxi job, working as an uber driver to earn money for his higher studies. Though taking up this job was very new to him, he utilized the best out of what was given to him. He made his car very unique from the others by providing them free wifi, a bottle of water and magazines to read to engage themselves during the trip. He made his customers feel very comfortable sending back his passengers with a good smile. That smile created a huge impact on both the passengers and his life. Usually he started working from 12 in the noon till evening 6pm. Mostly he made sure that he went home by 6pm as he had a fear of travelling at night from a small age.

MEETING HIS FRIEND ARNAV

Seeing different kinds of people during the trip, Shivan who used to be a people pleaser, now slowly started to form his own originality by being the best version of himself. Now as he started getting a good salary, he thought it was the right time for him to join the college that he was wishing for. That night he immediately called his friend Arnav, and told him about the good news. “ OH MY GOD!!! For real? That’s awesome!!! We should definitely meet sometime ” said Arnav. “ Umm... That’s a great idea!!! Is it ok if we could meet at the mall coming Saturday” asked Shivan. “Yeah, why not...” said Arnav confidently. As decided both of them met each other at the mall and had a good time by sharing their past experiences. After a good long conversation, Shivan said that he would drive him back home. When they were about to leave it was already night. While Shivan was driving, a pig passed by so he had to apply a sudden break. But since Arnav did not put on his seatbelt he was badly injured.

SHIVAN'S KIND HEART

Shivan got panicked and immediately called 4467067 (Nepal ambulance number). The ambulance had arrived and took Arnav to the hospital. When the receptionist asked him to pay the money, he didn't really know what to do. Though he was very ambitious of becoming an IT tech, he didn't over think anything further and gave the money to the receptionist. Though he felt sad that he wouldn't be able to pay for his college, he was satisfied that he had done a good deed by saving a person's life. A few days later, he received a mail (CONGRATULATIONS! YOU HAVE GOTTEN ADMISSION INTO NATIONAL COLLEGE OF COMPUTER STUDIES). He was so surprised because he did not actually pay for his college fees. When he immediately went to enquire about who had actually paid for his college fees, he came to know that it was Arnav. From this incident he realizes the importance of Selflessness and Genuine Kindness as it spreads to the community as well.

MORAL OF THE STORY

WHAT WE DO IS WHAT WE GET...HENCE LETS BE KIND AND SPREAD LOVE!!
